What is MICRO SKIN®?

The MicroSkin Adhesive Barrier is the only part of the appliance that actually adheres to your skin, keeping the pouch attached to your body. MicroSkin is made of a latex-free, hypoallergenic, poly-urethane polymer film.

Designed with an emphasis on comfort and durability, at just 1/1000 of an inch thick and the ability to stretch up to 500%, the MicroSkin barrier accomplishes a comfort unparalleled with any other pouching system on the market.

MicroSkin already has a well-established reputation of strength and durability, both in the water and under extreme situations, which has made it a favorite among active ostomates; yet the comfort and dependability can be enjoyed by any ostomate.

BENEFITS OF MICROSkin

The MicroSkin Adhesive Barrier

MicroSkin® is barely visible when in place around your stoma. It stretches and moves with you.

BREATHABLE: air and perspiration pass through the MicroSkin, but fluid and bacteria cannot. This allows your skin to heal and maintain itself naturally, helping prevent against skin breakdown and irritation.

WATERPROOF: since fluids can't enter MicroSkin, security can be maintained while bathing or swimming.

THIN: extremely low-profile, measuring just 1/1000 of an inch, MicroSkin comfortably contours and stretches with your body's natural curves and movements.

DEPENDABLE: proven under the most demanding conditions: John Dermengian (ileostomate) wore the same MicroSkin pouch as he competed in the 2003 Ironman Triathlon in Hawaii.

TESTIMONIAL

Ben Moon was diagnosed with colorectal cancer at the age of 29. Now with a permanent colostomy, he is back to doing all of the things he loves. He makes a living as an adventure photographer (his website is moonfoto.com) and he enjoys surfing, climbing, and yoga. All of these sports demand a lot from an ostomy appliance. Ben uses Cymed's MicroSkin pouches. He says "No other product on the market even remotely works in the water the way the MicroSkin does."

Frequently Asked Questions:

Using MicroSkin with a recessed/flush/convex stoma

Cymed does not have a convex pouch option BUT we do recommend the plain barrier MicroSkin skin barrier without a hydrocolloid washer/ring to be used on flush/recessed/convex stomas. When applying the pouch make sure to press down firmly on the barrier to ensure no tiny air gaps remain that can lead to leakage later. Solid adhesion is crucial.

Wearing MicroSkin during activities like sports, gardening, swimming or while in a hot tub

MicroSkin is dependable for most all types of activities and is completely waterproof. It has been proven to hold up under grueling triathalons and great for water lovers.
